

Dear Staff of 88.1 WBCN,

Hello, well it has come to our attention that CD theft is becoming an increasing problem at the station. We are going to start enforcing an already current rule in the studio, and that is filling out the CD log. Why? you might ask. Are we bored during office hours and decided to think something up because it's getting to cold to smoke in front of West Hall. Nope that's not it. We need our CD's to function as a radio station. We deal with many labels and some don't have enough money to provide us with another copy. Keep in mind that the band suffers when this happens because they are losing airtime.

The new policy. Let's say you are the incoming jock. Before you can take over, you and the current on-air jock must agree and sign the new log and transfer sheet. The incoming jock assumes financial responsibility for studio equipment and missing CD's. "This sounds dumb, I don't want to do it and I won't do it." The log will be checked daily and failure to fill out the form will get you written up. This is an important procedure and we hope it lowers theft at the station. Also this process takes under three minutes to complete so it shouldn't be a problem if you are in a hurry.

Alternatives to CD theft by Bob Sagat star of television's Full House,

Hi there. It's wrong to steal. But people sometimes make mistakes. If you steal I would be angry at you but I would still love you. See, I would be angry at your behavior not you the person. I can recall that I stole a kid's bike once. It turns out the bike I took belonged to me. No wonder because I stole it from my own garage.- insert fake Hollywood laughter now! (Ha Ha Ha) But when you do get the urge to have sticky fingers keep these alternatives in mind.

1. Get permission to remove it from the studio and make a copy of it in the production room.
2. Check with the music director and see if there are extras that are going to be given away.
3. Use this week's beer money (or chemical of your own choice) to buy it at Madhatter (shameless free plug!!!)

Thank you,
